

Ramsac on track for success

Surrey-based company shortlisted for major industry accolade

DIRECTORS at RAMSAC, a leading IT solutions provider based in Godalming, will be donning DJs and ball gowns in November after being short-listed in the prestigious Computer Reseller News Channel Awards 2004.

Computer Reseller News is one of the most well respected magazines in the IT industry.

As a provider of outsourced IT support and management services, RAMSAC uses its expertise in IT systems to help clients grow their businesses. After a very successful year, RAMSAC has made it to the last four companies vying for the Small To Medium Reseller Award at this year's ceremony.

"We're extremely excited and proud to have been nominated for the award," says Robert May, Managing Director at RAMSAC. "It's great to be recognised for being successful and it's a tribute to all of our staff for their hard work over the past year."

With 12 years experience in IT consultancy, RAMSAC's unique approach to providing IT services and support clearly impressed the panel of judges. Its philosophy is to help companies, specifically SMEs, get the most out of their IT investment.

RAMSAC has developed services ranging from helpdesk support to IT staff management and strategic planning and has registered a 20 per cent increase in clients over the past six months.

The Computer Reseller News Channel Awards 2004 will be held at Battersea Park in London on November 17. For more information please visit www.channelawards.co.uk
