

Ramsac cares for community

VAR Ramsac has completed a remote-working project for Chase hospice care for children.

Prior to implementing remote access, Chase's 12-strong community care team made frequent visits to the office to update the records of the 240 families on Chase's books. With the team dispersed across South-West London, Surrey and Sussex, the charity felt it was wasting time and money.

Paul Bartlett, IT and bookings coordinator for Chase, said: "Our Community Care Team needs to spend the majority of its time working with families, not travelling. The remote working solution provided by Ramsac will allow us to achieve this."

Robert May, managing director of Ramsac, said: "The Citrix network we have implemented will allow Chase's community care team to focus more on the 240 families that it has the duty of care for." CRN
