ramsac announces three new faces

IT solutions consultancy ramsac has appointed three new members of staff. Nina Morley has been appointed to its account management team, Matt Shepherd as a support consultant and Karl Beales as a network consultant.

As an experienced customer support administrator, Nina Morely will provide account support to a number of key ramsac customers.

Matt Shepherd has eight years' experience in the industry, working both as an in house IT technician for a firm of chartered accountants and at a large college.

In his new role as network consultant, Karl Beales will be responsible for providing outsourced IT managed services for a range of ramsac clients.

Managing director of ramsac, Robert May, comments on the recent internal growth, "2006 has been a great year for us, we have seen turnover increase by 40 per cent since 2005 and our client retention rate still stands at a fantastic 96 per cent. The appointments of Nina, Matt and Karl are part of our 2007 strategy to grow in size, client base, geographies and markets."
