IT specialist launches 24/7 support

Godalming-based IT solutions consultancy ramsac has launched a new 24/7 support service. The new service is designed to give full cover to all clients for all key IT services, seven days a week, 365 days a year.

Robert May, Managing Director of ramsac, explained: "IT services are crucial to many modern businesses and organisations and the potential for problems doesn't just cease when people have gone home or there is a public holiday.

"Networks can develop faults at any time and the rise of home working and flexible working hours means that support is required at times when traditional IT support departments would not be available. We strongly believe that to give our clients a full support service means that we're available whenever needed."
